The BILO container is a practical lunchbox with a clever design for convenient storage of meals. The main container is divided into two compartments and an additional insert contains space for cutlery, a small sauce container and two smaller compartments. This prevents different ingredients from mixing together. The main container is divided into two compartments and the additional insert contains a space for cutlery, a small sauce container and two smaller compartments. The lid has a gasket and four locking clips to ensure a tight seal and safe storage of food. Made of durable plastic, it will perform well in everyday use. The possibility of branding makes it a functional advertising gadget.
